COMBINED MEETING OF SEVEN FOREST PARTNERSHIPS AND GRANITY FOREST LTD

All attendees opted to visit one forest to share in a presentation from the Forest Managers.

The group of 58 partners visited the Castle Peak, Stone House forest property and went for a walk through Castle Peak Forest stopping at various points to listen to Steve Bell point out the results of previous management decisions and answer questions which were wide ranging.

Steve pointed out the benefits of early management decisions which at age 19 are very evident, particularly with the very small limb size in the upper portion or un-pruned part of the tree. This small limb size will relate at time of harvest into the best grades of un-pruned saw log and the better price that goes with it – bearing in mind that 75% of a forest is in the un-pruned portion of the tree, then the importance of top grade saw log becomes apparent.

Steve advised that recently the market had lifted for pruned logs resulting in the premium being restored, making pruning a very viable option.

With many of the forests in the area at the 20 plus year age class questions were also asked about harvesting. Steve advised that, as discussed at the Harvesting Conference held for partners last year, the average forest will take approximately 2 – 3 years to harvest. The best result will come from engaging quality logging contractors with experienced staff and quality equipment. Because the RDNZ group has a sizable estate of forests we attract these quality contractors and can negotiate favourable terms because the group offers economies of scale and continuity of work. This has been achieved at the Waikare forest currently being harvested near Wanganui.

In an answer to a question re log prices Steve explained that as each forest will take a few years to harvest, smoothing of the harvest and averaging of log prices gives the best result.

Steve also commented on his trip to China visiting log buyers that were being supplied by Summit the subsidiary of Sumitomo who are buying logs from the Waikare Forest Partnership. He commented that after discussions with them it is apparent that they too want a stable market with stable pricing as when prices fall they lose money.

Emissions Trading Scheme:

Roger advised that all partnerships present had now passed the resolution to progressively sell the Liability free NZUs to fund the forests share calls. The market has firmed this year and thoughts are as New Zealand emitters are now required to use NZUs to offset emissions it may well rise. However, that may well depend on the outcome of the ETS review to be undertaken this year.

Financial Markets Conduct Act 2013 (FMCA)

As advised in the Annual Report, the FMCA applies to RDNZ as they are considered to be a reporting entity. Roger advised that just recently there has been some talk of a possible exemption for long term investments such as forests that have no debt and individually only turn over around $40,000 per annum. Time alone will tell.

RDNZ Website:

Richard Bourne advised partners that RDNZ have been using the website for the distribution of reports and for online voting over the last few years, with the vast majority of partners now using the online services. That being the case this will be the method of distribution from now on with hard copies only being posted to those without email or those who specifically request hard copies.

Richard also advised that to facilitate this RDNZ is upgrading the website and this is planned to be completed midyear.

Secondary Market:

Richard advised that there are a number of securities for sale in the forest partnerships. If anyone is interested in picking up parcels of securities in other partnerships they should contact him at the office.

There are also opportunities to invest in Dairy Farms and in Pukekaka Sheep and Beef Farm.

This concluded the business and the meeting was declared closed at 2.45 pm.
